

You're registered: Making AI a Developer Team Sport

Hi Shengshuhang,

Thank you for registering for Making AI a Developer Team Sport with GitHub! 🎉

We're excited to welcome you to Making AI a Developer Team Sport. AI is transforming not just how we code, but how we collaborate.

Software development is a team sport requiring collaboration across individuals, teams, and projects. Developers have increasingly integrated AI in their individual workflows over the past few years to scale their abilities and efforts.

The next wave of AI acceleration will come from a boost in collaboration.

This session explores how GitHub Copilot can enable AI-assisted collaboration across teams, helping developers learn from one another, align on best practices, and ship with confidence.
